TRAIN YOUR OWN ASSISTANCE DOG

Although training your own assistance dog is a cheaper alternative it still requires a considerable investment of time and money.

Training your own dog is time consuming and hard work.

A lot of people have never owned a dog before or never trained a dog. Training a dog in basic obedience requires commitment and work so, as you can imagine, training an assistance dog is a much bigger commitment and a lot more work.

Your dog needs to be a family priority and you need to be able to take it everywhere with you.

Think carefully about your lifestyle and the commitments you already have and whether you believe you can do this. If the answer is YES then we can help you out.

FAQ:

Why am I hiring a coat?

- SSE owns the coats so that if you leave the program or behave in a way that does not uphold the policies and procedures of SSE the coat can be taken from you.

What do the coats mean?

- The learner coat is the first coat you receive. This does not give your pup/dog any rights to access public spaces (cafes etc) but it does let the public know your pup is in training and also helps your pup get used to working equipment.
- The second coat is a training coat and gives you the right to enter public spaces except for a few locations.
- The last coat is a fully certified coat giving your dog access to all public spaces that you access.

How are payments made?

- You will be invoiced at time of booking and at least 2 weeks prior to your session/request. Payment is currently made via bank transfer.
- SSE will have card options very soon.
- We are approachable so if you require an extension to pay or want to pay in instalments just ask but payments need to be made by the due date agreed upon.

What kind of support can I expect?

- 1:1 and group training sessions- as many as you want to book in to.(eg: some people book a regular session every week/fortnight each month).
- Text/email and phone support 7 days/week. Email is better as phone calls can be difficult to answer if training is occurring. Also, emails give more information and allow better analysis of a situation.
- We can provide equipment and are also able to have .equipment adapted if needed. Please feel free to discuss your individual needs.

FAQ Continued:

Can I book a specific location for a session?

Yes. If you are attending an appointment etc. you can book a session (or more) at the location to practice attending with your dog.

Is all training a general approach in skills?

Yes and no. Training sessions are directed towards particular skills, however, these skills can be adapted to your specific needs/wants.

You are also able to request group sessions that target a particular skill or difficulty you are experiencing.

Can I bring my child/children?

- Yes you can, however, you are responsible for them at all times.
- If children are present you are only to parent your own child/children.
- All children attending may have their own disabilities and difficulties so do not offer advice or interfere with other parents and their parenting method.
- There is a small box of sensory/fidget toys for children as well as a swinging chair.

Note:

Everyone needing an Assistance Dog has an issue of some type, neurological and/or medical. Everyone is anxious about group sessions, so you are not alone.
